THE LUXURY ROYAL INKA TRAIL 4 DAYS!

By ITEP "Inka Trail Expeditions Perú" ...

...The Inca Trail to Machu Picchu in Perú is part of an extensive Inca system of trails of more than 23,000 kilometers that integrated the Tahuantinsuyo Empire "The Inka Country" (which means four regions) that covered many South American countries such as Colombia, the west of Brazil, Ecuador, Peru, Bolivia, to the center of Chile and the north of Argentina. These trails tended to be principally on the coast or in the mountains but in a few cases they reached the tropical edge of the jungle at the Amazon Jungle.

The Inka Trails is called in Quechua "the Inka Language" Qhapaq Ñan - refers to the network of trails) were without a doubt is one of the marvels of Tahuantinsuyo, according to the Peruvian historian, José Antonio del Busto, who explains that the Inka "King" Huayna Capac most increased the network of trails in order to quickly mobilize his army.

The trails varied in quality and size, they could be 6 to 8 meters wide on the coast but, in the mountains the paving was only one meter wide but the path was audaciously steep and climbed over the difficult Andean mountains.

... The Luxury Royal Inka Trail to Machupicchu

The Royal Inka Trail to Machu Picchu "The Famous Inka Trail" still existed and was re-discovered by Hiram Bingham when he realized his clearing work between 1913 and 1915. The Inka trail was a royal route to Machu Picchu used by the Inka (or Emperor/King) in the 15th century. There are different sites between Ollantaytambo Inca City and Machu Picchu Inca City where one can note the variety in architectural resources that give rationality, importance and mysticism to the Royal Road. It did not have a commercial use; there were other, more simple, trails to transport products, llamas and people to Machu Picchu. The purpose of the Inka Trail to Machupicchu was religious and ceremonial that included rituals to honor the mountains and peaks of the route, like Veronica Mts or Wakaywilka Mts.

Spend an Extra Day at Machu Picchu

Even though you have enough time to see the core of Machu Picchu Sanctuary during the regular guided tour, most of our guests realize that they would have liked to stay a little longer since there is so much to explore! Let us know at time of reservation if you would like to add this optional day. By spending an extra day at Machu Picchu, you will be able to... Make the best of your time visiting a World Heritage Site situated on a spectacular mountain ridge, overlooking the confluence of three rivers.

Explore areas of the site that are less visited by most travelers, such as climbing Machu Picchu Mountain (special permit to be purchased in advance) or hiking to the Inca Bridge or the Sun Gate.

Visit the town of Aguas Calientes and shop the local craft markets.

Treat yourself to a relaxing end to your vacation and fully enjoy the magnificent gardens, top of the line spa, and hospitality of the unique Inkaterra Pueblo Hotel.

HUAYNA PICCHU MOUNTAIN

Huayna Picchu is one of the mountains that stands next to Machu Picchu and has amazing views from above. This hike is done after your tour with us and takes 45 minutes to the top and 45 minutes back down. Allow for time to take lots of photos, because the views are incredible.

The Huayna Picchu Mountain is the one that you see behind Machu Picchu on any postcard; its Inca paths hidden alongside the mountain; it may frighten those of you who have a fear of heights. For those of you who struggle with heights you may need to know that you will be steps away from hundred-foot plummets into an abyss, and in some places the path can be very steep and narrow. There are times when you need to use security cables to support yourself; it is a challenge for anyone. If you suffer from vertigo or you have a hard time controlling your fear of heights, we would recommend taking a different route. You will have to place reservations 6 months before if you would like one of the 400 available tickets to go up to the Huayna Picchu Mountain.

MACHUPICCHU MOUNTAIN

Machu Picchu Mountain is an unforgettable and lesser-known hike above the Machu Picchu ruins with stunning panoramic view of the valley. Reaching ruins is only one part of the Machu Picchu experience. The other one is climbing the summit of Machu Picchu Mountain at 3,050 meters above sea level for dramatic views of the ruins and lush mountains separated by deep valleys and Urubamba River. As spectacular as seeing Machu Picchu is, the ruins of lost Inca city tell very little if you don't see them in a perspective with the surrounding mountains. It's when you can appreciate the enormous effort of Incas for building a city 2,430 meters above sea level without any use of metal tools or the wheel. Why the city was initially built still remains a mystery.

MACHUPICCHU MUSEUM

The Historic Sanctuary of Machu Picchu achieves the objectives of the preservation and dissemination of cultural and archaeological research. Within a modern and dynamic exhibition, the reopening of Site Museum Manuel Chavez Ballón has become the primary means of communication and information for the most important cultural Historical Sanctuary of Peru.

The museum is organized in seven phases; they emphasize the beauty and historical significance of the large collection of artifacts, construction tools (copper and bronze), pins, mirrors, tweezers and needles. Also are the headed ornitomorfa ibis, toucans and oropendolas. The exhibit shows in detail the metallurgical expertise in the Inca city; the spectacular examples of dexterity in stone quarrying, as well as significant objects in various other materials. These displays express to the world, a view of the sustenance of life in Inca Machu Picchu, the strategic administrative center intertwined between the Amazon and the Andes.

Please note: Please confirm if you want to climb one of the Mountains or Visit the Museum as you need to be booked well in advance too, "Ticket are not included and will be charged according Machupicchu Entrance fees rates at the time of booking"; Please note, if you get the permits you will probably have to miss/skip the Machu Picchu guided tour.

Preparing for the Luxury Inca Trail Trek

We recommend that our guests spend at least 2 nights in Cusco prior to departure. This helps with acclimatization to the altitude and also provides an opportunity to explore the beautiful city of Cusco.

Travelers can feel the effects of higher altitudes as low as 6000 feet (2000 meters) above sea level. They differ in their tolerance for high altitude conditions and how their bodies react to the changes in air pressure and oxygen level. Therefore, we encourage our guests to undergo appropriate preparation by regular cardio-vascular exercise, even if conducted at low elevation, and to adopt a healthy, balanced diet prior to the trip.

Without at least some pre-trip training, or a good basic level of fitness, trekking is hard work. Let's be real – it's hard work anyway. The toll for a great trek is paid in sweat. Sore calves and aching quads are badges of honor, with blisters and lost toenails marks of pride.

But in return, you get some of the most untouched, pristine and jaw-dropping scenery on the planet. And you know what? The more you train for your epic hike, the easier it'll be. And you don't have to be an Iron Woman/Man to climb to Andean Mountains or reach the top of Mt Machupicchu. Far from it. Trekking is available to anyone; you just have to be sensible and work a bit for it. Here are a few of our top prep tips for your upcoming trek:

1. Start walking now (it's never too early to start training)

This may seem like the most obvious step to start with (pardon the pun), but you'd be surprised how many people don't do it. The best way to prepare for a really long walk? Do some really long walks.

You should start with small-ish distances and work up to the length you'll be trekking on your trip.

When you start your training, leave a day in between each walk to let your body recover. But as your body gets fitter, try to do back-to-back sessions each day – it'll help build your stamina for the relentless nature of a ten-day trek, where you won't have the luxury of rest days. Ideally, you want to be able to walk 4-6 hours – comfortably – before you leave.

2. Make leg-based cardio part of your routine...

As well as doing long walks, you should also work some leg-based cardio into your daily routine. Cycling is awesome for building up muscle in your legs, but soccer, football, squash and swimming are all great too. If you're more into gym workouts, mix up your spin classes or cycling bursts with squats and lunges (the more weight, the better).

3. Take the stairs every chance you get

Stair climbing is also a good one for building up calves and quads, so take the stairs instead of the lift or escalator when you're at work or the train station.

4. Make sure you're walking properly

You've been doing it since you were around one year old, but it's super important to monitor how you're walking and if you're doing it correctly. Make sure you're hitting the ground with your heel first, then rolling onto your toe, which propels you onto the next step (this will help reduce the risk of shin splints and tendon pulls – ouch). Walk with your head up, eyes forward and shoulders level.

5. Mix up your training terrain...

When you're on your trek, it's unlikely you'll be walking on level footpaths and roads, so avoid training solely on level footpaths and roads. Instead, try to train on surfaces that will be similar to the trails on the trek. If you're heading to Everest or Kili, aim to train on steep, rocky terrain and loose shale; if it's Kokoda, try to find muddy paths. It's really important you prepare your feet, ankles and knees for the stress they'll experience on the trip.

6. Walk in all types of weather

It's also unlikely you'll get ten straight days of perfect weather on your trek, so prepare yourself for all conditions by walking in cold, windy, rainy, warm and humid conditions (where possible, of course!).

Wonderful has an address

PERU & LATIN AMERICAN

7. Try using walking poles

Walking poles will become your two new best friends. They take the pressure off your knees on the downs, and give you extra support on the ups. Incorporate poles into your training sessions so you get used to walking with them.

8. Train with a backpack

On almost all of our trekking trips, you won't be carrying your main pack, but you will need to carry a small daypack, packed with essentials like your camera, snacks, sunscreen, water and wet-weather gear. So with all your days/weeks/months of training, make sure you're challenging yourself with a weighted bag. If you really want to push it, pack your bag with a few extras, so it's a little heavier than what you're planning to hike with on the trip – it'll make the eventual trek feel like a walk in the park (chortle).

9. Keep the tank fuelled

It's SO important you're stocked with enough water and food during a trek (hydration is key!). Nuts, dried fruit, muesli bars and chocolate are all good, quick sources of energy and protein; keep a selection of these healthy snacks in your daypack. Also, bring along a reusable canteen; alpine streams are usually a great source of fresh water, but our guides provide boiled (and cooled) water daily throughout your trek. While you're in training-mode, try to eat and drink 'on the go' as much as you can, so your body can get used to digesting during strenuous exercise.

10. Invest in a good pair of shoes

Your feet are your most crucial body part on a trek, and it doesn't take much to keep them in toe-tappingly tip-top shape. First, invest in a pair of good-quality, water-resistant hiking boots; you want plenty of support and ventilation too. Then, wear them in. How do you do this? Wear them everywhere. On your training runs, on walks to the shops, to work, to formal events (well, maybe not). You get the idea though; by wearing them in as much as possible in the weeks and months leading up to the trek, it'll help avoid blisters, bunions and lost toenails. Then, stock up on a few pairs of really good hiking socks (preferably a wool/nylon blend), that will wick moisture and keep your feet dry. If you want to get a bit crazy, wear two pairs while walking to minimize your chance of blisters.

INCA TRAIL Guides

We provide one cultural and one Equestrian Guide and his/her assistant(s) for each group. In addition, groups of 6 or more guests are accompanied by a route doctor (depending on availability). Our guides are among the best in Peru (some have even won international awards!) and have on average at least 15 years of experience guiding in the mountains, not only in Peru but around the world. Many of them are considered pioneers in this area as well, having scouted many of the current routes in the country. All ITEP Eco Travel guides have excellent language skills, and are highly trained in managing group dynamics. All guides undergo continuous medical and rescue training, with a certification in "Wilderness First Aid." You will appreciate their knowledge of history and cultural traditions, local flora and fauna, as well as their great insight (and stories) that goes far beyond any guide or history book! Since these leaders have been guiding this particular ride for several years now, they have made friends in the local communities, thus allowing genuine and spontaneous encounters during the journey which often provide unforgettable experiences for our guests. In their hands, you will feel safe and well taken care of! In addition, the equestrian support team traveling with our group is trained to treat health issues and injuries of our horse pack.

Pre-Trek Briefing and Meet & Greet

We provide a pre-trekking briefing in Cusco on the evening prior to the start of the ride. The meeting is held in a central office by the trip leader and all participants are requested to attend. The briefing consists of the following:

- "meet and greet" with the lead guide
- review of the detailed itinerary and any last-minute changes
- confirmation of specific dietary and medical information of the participants
- address frequently asked questions (and answers)
- verify that participants have the necessary gear and equipment

Important Note: You will be receiving an invitation via email with the time and place of the briefing, including a map with directions to the briefing. Please note that if your arrival into Cusco is delayed and you are unable to join your group for the transfer on Day 1 to the first basecamp, we can arrange private transfer for you to join the group at additional cost.

Brief Technical Trip Description

The trek consists of 4 days of moderate to strenuous trekking experience (plus 01 full day experience in Machupicchu," extensions or extra days on request") at elevations of 2,000m-4,600m (6,600-15,000ft) on diverse types of trails ranging from flat and grassy to steep and rocky slopes. The trail crosses nine different eco zones in five days, with the possibility of changing weather conditions.

Level of difficulty: Intermediate to advance. Beginners are recommended taking at least 6 hours of trekking lessons prior to arriving in Peru.

Age Limits: The recommended minimum age of participants is 12 years old. However, we may consider exceptions depending on experience and physical condition.

OUR MEALS ALONG THE INCA TRAIL

With ITEP each day we awake the smell of something fantastic cooking in the chef's tents and it was this smell (and maybe the warm coca tea).

It is also important to note that if you have any food allergies or happen to be a vegetarian or vegan, ITEP will cater to you along the way.

FAQ: Below you'll find answers to some very common questions.

Is the Inca Trail difficult?

Great question! The Inca Trail is considered a moderate hike; however, there are a lot of staircases to climb, and the altitude can also affect the body. We recommend renting a wooden walking stick as it helps with your balance and reduces stress on the knees. If you have mobility issues, please let your CEO know during booking.

How many hours will I hike a day?

Make sure you pack your comfortable hiking boots, because it is estimated you'll be walking six to nine hours for each of the first three days and about two hours on the last day.

What are the requirements to hike the Inca Trail?

To trek the Inca Trail with ITEP Travel you must be over the age of 12, with a moderate level of fitness, and hold a passport that is valid for up to six months.

How high is the trail?

The trek begins at 2,800m (9,186 ft). The highest point you'll reach on the trek is approximately 4,200m (13,780ft). You'll also sleep at 3,600m (11,811 ft) for at least one night.

How cold does it get?

It can get chilly due to the altitude. During the Andean winter (May – September) the temperature can drop below zero at night. It can be cool during the summer months too, so we suggest bringing thermal underwear and we will give you a warm sleeping bag.

Is altitude sickness common?

It's impossible to predict who will be affected by the altitude as your ability to adapt can vary from person to person. (We do recommend you undertake the trek in a good state of physical fitness.) Most of our travelers have no problem, as long as they take the time to acclimatize properly. This might include spending a full day in Cuzco (3,249m [10,659 ft] above sea level) and drinking plenty of water.

When is the high season on the Inca Trail?

Hiking the Inca Trail is popular all year round, however May to September is considered the high season. This means that permits can be sold out months in advance. However, if permits are not available, there are other options to walk along the Andean Mountains, which still takes you to Machu Picchu.

How far in advance should I book my tour?

To reserve a spot on the Inca Trail, we recommend you book your tour at least six months in advance during high season (May to October) and three months in advanced during low season (November to April).

Do I need a permit to hike the Inca Trail?

Yes. We require a copy of your passport. Please note that any attempts to modify your personal information will result in the loss of the permit. A refund will not be possible so make sure you double-check your information. As well, there's a limited number of permits in effort to preserve the trail.

When do we reach Machu Picchu and how much time will we spend at the ruins?

Reaching Machu Picchu depends on the campsite assigned to your group on the third night. However, many groups will reach the Sun Gate at around 6:00am. You'll have plenty of time to soak in the ruins thanks to a two-hour guided tour and some free time to explore afterwards.

¿How do we return to Cusco?

After you have enjoyed all the beauty of Machu Picchu, you will be decended by bus to Aguas Calientes and then take a train back to Ollantaytambo.

Is it possible to skip the Inca Trail even if the tour includes it?

Yes! Let us know that you don't want to hike the Inca Trail when you book. We'll arrange for you to spend two nights in Cuzco and then take the train to the town of Aguas Calientes. You will rejoin your group at Machu Picchu.

What type of accommodation can I expect on the Inca Trail?

We use three-man tents to accommodate two same-sex travelers. There are a few places on the trail where permanent (but very rustic) toilet facilities exist, and when they're not available, your crew will set up portable toilet tents.

Do porters carry our luggage on the Inca Trail?

Yes! We'll provide you with a large stuff sac where you can place 5kg of your personal items (including your tent and sleeping bag). Our skilled porters will carry these bags while you hike the Inca Trail. Your other personal items will be stored safely at our hotel in Cuzco. All you need to carry is a daypack containing the things you'll need during the day like water, camera and sunscreen.

Will I be given a sleeping bag and mat?

Great question! Three-season compact sleeping bags are provided. We provide our travelers with inflating mattress.

What type of food will be served on the Inca Trail?

Our cooks prepare excellent high-quality meals that are perfect for a day of trekking. The menu usually includes: pasta, rice, chicken, fresh fruit and vegetables, oatmeal, and eggs. If you're a vegetarian, no problem! We're able to cater to your needs. If you have any dietary restrictions or allergies, please let your CEO know.

Is purified water available on the trail?

Bottled water can be purchased on day one and on the evening of day three of the trek. However, we discourage trekkers from purchasing bottles as it increases the amount of waste. Instead, we strongly recommend bringing a refillable water bottle, as boiled water will be provided with every meal.

Can I bring my own walking stick?

Yes, as long as it is not a metal-tipped walking stick, as they are not permitted on the trail.

What is the suggested amount that I should tip the guides and porters?

Tipping is at your discretion, but is always appreciated. If you enjoyed the service you enjoyed from your guides and porters, we suggest tipping between 6-8 dollars a day.

Best time ever!!

We booked a 5 day salkantay trek. It was an unbelievable time. Our tour guide, Alvina was the best. She was funny and very knowledgeable in Peruvian history.

The meals that were made by our chef, Sebastian were outstanding. We always ate something new and it felt like we were on a food tour instead of actually being in the Andes.

Pick up and drop off were as explained in the meeting before the trip. Anyone who is interested in doing the trek, bring poles! I am fairly young and in good shape and never would have thought my knees would hurt as much as they did.

Overall, an amazing time. I would book again!

ITEP tour company was amazing to work with! There were 4 people total in our group and we booked Sacred Valley as well as the 2 Day Inka Trail. We felt safe and cared for throughout our entire trip. While the trail was difficult for some of us, our tour guide was with us every step of the way. This company was highly professional and punctual. Communication was great with everyone in this company. Would highly recommend!

Trip of a lifetime

Percy was our guide and he was knowledgeable, helpful and patient. We had the best chef and ate the best food! I was a bit nervous because I have never hike before or been in high altitude but I had no problems completing the trek. 10/10 would recommend.

Great Experience in Choquequirao

We booked the 4d3n trip to Choquequirao at ITEP and we can really recommend it.

The service you get for your money is really really good - we didn't expect such a good service.

Our tour guide Santiago and his team was really helpful and careful! We hadn't to care about anything. neither to build up our tent nor if we have enough snacks during hiking... They really took care about every little thing. We also booked a extra horse to carry our things and sleeping bags. The horses seemed to be healthy and the equipment was also good quality.

The meals were absolutely amazing! I have no clue how our chef Nazario could do that but it was always delicious! I am vegetarian and it was no problem.

We would definitely book it again at ITEP!

SHORT INCA TRAIL

My girlfriend and I spent two fantastic days visiting Machu Picchu. The first day we survived the Short Inca trail!!! Alvina, our guide, with her upbeat attitude kept us always motivated to face the trek under the pouring rain. Moreover she gave us lots of interesting information about indigenous plants and animals. At the end of first day we finally conquered Machu Picchu. We spent the whole next morning visiting the archeological complex. Alvina explained very well, with words and images, about the buildings and most importantly Inca's culture. She also gave us time to take pictures and to explore te site on our own. I thank ITEP TRAVEL and Alvina for the great time we had.
